WEBSTER "A GREAT ANIMAL." Wonderful Orator Seemed Half Asleep

When Trying a Case. "I heard him once in Fancuil hall, Boston. Every man in the audienceand the hall was crowded-gave one shout of applause at what Everett said. The subject I have entirely forgotten, but this fact I remember," says a writer in the Critic. I inquired if he had ever heard Webster produce such an effect on an audience. He said never; but he had only heard Webster in court; it was in defense of a celebrated criminal-perhaps the Phoenix bank cose in Boston. "Mr. Webster seemed in a semi-dream. I thought him half asleep, for he had his eyes almost closed and was in a avy state, taking little notice of

in court. William Den, sat near him law books and he were there er awake. There were ages on the bench-probably udge Shaw and two others-one on each side of him. They watched Webster closely, for it would not do to neglect what he might say. He, on the contrary, appeared to take no account of other persons, as if his mind were anywhere but there. I fancied he was thinking what his next political move should be. He was a remarkable man to look at-far other than the ordinary run of men-I suppose the most remarkable American in his aspect that ever was seen. They thought so in England, where they stopped to look after him in the street. But he was heavy-a great animal, involved in his own dreams and paying little attention to what went on around him."

LEARN TO WALK WELL.

Even English Admit American Women Excel in This Respect.

A contemporary has been waxing eloquent over the woman who walks well, and lamenting the rarity of grace and dignity in the average woman's gait. And it must be confessed, if the woman whom one sees in the streets of the metropolis be taken as an example, a waddling walk or little mincing tripping steps seem to be all-prevalent.

An English woman walks worse than any other woman. The French woman steps out with lightness and ease: the air as if the pavement belonged to her, could be honored by the tread of her little feet; and as for the Spanish woman, even lighter and slimmer foot that the daughters of Jonathan, why hers is the very prettiest of motion.

An Englishwoman, if I may so express myself, is handicapped by her feet. Hers are far, very far, from the neatest known, and her mauvaise honte in showing them to a watchful world, how natural.

Poor thing, she is too often in a hurry. She does more in her day than any other woman, and it is not possible to be graceful while hustling.

Walk slowly (says a master of deportment), with a quiet swing, but with a swing, head back and your weight on each foot in turn. Take are not to rob yourself of inches by giving at the knees. Practise with a book on your head at home, and say to yourself meanwhile as a suggestion: "The poetry of motion. The poetry of motion."-Gentlewoman, London.

COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s "Weekly Review of Trade" says:

"Industrial, commercial and agricultural progress continue satisfactory. Nothing has occurred to weaken confidence, the disposition being to extend plans further into the future, and many plants have their facilities engaged well into next year. As demand broadens there is a natural tendency to enlarge capacity, which adds to the already exceptional structural activity.

Jobbers have secured much more forward business than at this date last year, especially in dry goods lines, and the frequent reminders of autumn temperature stimulate retail distribution of wearing apparel.

"Thus far the weather has not been cold enough to harm the crops that remain to be harvested, and another week of favorable conditions should insure an unprecedented yield of corn. "Railway earnings thus far reported for September were 3.7 per cent. larger than last year's. Each week brings better news from the iron and steel industry, demand broadening and production keeping pace. "Failures this week numbered 194 in

Sunday Night Supper.

I wish I could head an insurrection against the Sunday night supper as it is usually met. It would be swept out of existence with a celerity that would be astonishing even in this day of rapid transit. Gone forever would be the supper table of one section of the country-the plate of cold chopped beef or dried codfish, the pile of white and brown bread, the little dishes of apple sauce, the large ginger cookies. Gone, too, would be that other variety of supper table which thinks to make up for its lack of savory dishes by its much cake. I am afraid even baked beans and brown bread, beloved as they are by certain worthy beings, might not stand against the bosom of destruction.

Instead of any or all of these the supper table that should supplant them should be a board of surprises. The Sunday night supper should be the unexpected feast of the week. At this meal the family would never know what to look for. One time the repast would be hot and savory; the next it would be cold, but no less savory. New and startling salads would make their first bow, so to speak, at the Sunday night supper table, and it would be the housekeeper's dissipation to devise and sear out novelties for this meal. Here she should give rein to any pioneering or adventurous spirit she had in her and train her family to equal daring.-Harper's Bazar.

Peach Fritters-Sift together one cupful of flour, two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt; then pour over one well-beaten egg and one-third of a cupful of milk; then add three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and four peaches chopped in small pleces; drop big spoonfuls into hot fat; drain them on paper; sprinkle with powdered sugar;

Date Whip-Wash and soak a pound of dates, then put them in water to simmer on the stove until very soft. Remove from the fire, drain, and rub them through a sieve. And one-third of a cupful of sugar and a spoonful of lemon juice, and whip in the unbeaten whites of four eggs. Turn into a buttered mold, set in a pan of hot water and bake slowly until firm. When cold, serve with whipped cream.

Gravied Cucumbers - Fry a sliced onion in a little butter until partly cooked, then add six cucumbers which have been quartered lengthwise. Cook until the cucumbers are nicely browned. Remove the vegetables from the frying pan carefully and add to the butter left in it a plnt of good soup stock. Season to taste and thicken slightly with flour-a teaspoonful will be sufficient. Put the fried vegetables into this preparation; cover closely and cook until tender enough to serve.

Peanut Pudding-Scald one pint of milk in a double boiler: beat the yolks of four eggs and four tablespoonfuls of brown sugar together, and stir in three tablespoonfuls of cornstarch made smooth with a little milk. Stir this mixture constantly until it thickens, then add one cupful of peanut paste and flavor with a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Pour into a pudding dish and cover with a meringue made by beating the whites of four eggs with six tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Set in the oven to brown

Tomato Waffles -- Pare six mediumsized ripe tomatoes, chop very fine and add one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of butter, melted after measuring. Sift one-half of a teaspoonful of soda in a little flour; add three wellbeaten eggs, and now add sufficient flour to make the mixture like a thin griddle cake batter. Have your waffleiron very hot, grease both upper and under lids, place a small tablespoonful of the batter into each section, close the ild upon it and bake at least one minute on each side. When serving cut the sections apart and arrange on papkin.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— (First Letter.)

"In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumor of the Uterus. I have been to a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."

his mind to tackle vaudeville, for the first round selected Manager Meyerfelt, founder of a well-known circuit. The manager had a gruff manner and a German accent, and was, moreover, very busy. Turning on Mr. Stevens brusquely, he exclaimed: "Vell, vat do you vant?" "I would like to go into vaudeville," responded the candidate, meekly. "Vat do you do-vat is your line?" "I am a comedian," was the modest but very general answer. 'A komiker, hein?" and the manager faced him sternly. "Vell, make me

W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes have by their excellent style, easy fitting, and superior wearing qualities, achieved the largest sale of any $3.50 shoe in the world. They are just as good as those that cost you $5.00 to $7.00—the only difference is the price. If I could take you into my factory at Brockton, Mass., the largest in the world under one roof making men's fine shoes, and show you the care with which every pair of Douglas shoes is made, you would realize why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes are the best shoes produced in the world.

If I could show you the difference between the shoes made in my factory and those of other makes, 3 u would understand why Douglas $3.50 shoes cost more to make, why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer, and are of greater intrinsic value than any other $3.50 shoe on the market to-day.

Wouderful Change in a Night-In a Month Face Was Clear as Ever-Another Cure by Cuticura.

"I had eczema on the face for five months, during which time I was in the care of physicians. My face was so dis figured I could not go out, and it was going from bad to worse A friend recommended Cuticura. The first night after I washed my face with Cuticura Soap and used Cuticura Ointment and Resolvent I changed wonderfully. From that day I was able to go out, and in a month the treatment had removed all scales and scabs, and my face was as clear as ever. (Signed) T. J. Soth, 317 Stagg Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.
